

HIGHWAY FINANCE

This section contains a series of tables reporting the highway receipts, disbursements, debt status, and other financial information of Federal, State, and local governments. Federal and State highway finance data are for 1992. Highway finance data for local governments are for various fiscal years ending in 1991.

Because the expenditures of one level of government may become income to another, care must be taken to avoid duplicating income and expenditures when combining certain Federal, State, and local tables. For this reason, the first tables in this section give combined summaries of highway finances for all levels of government in net amounts. Duplications that result from intergovernmental transfers have been removed. These tables are followed by specialized tables showing Federal, State, and local government data. The specialized tables are not additive without appropriate adjustments for intergovernmental payments.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL PAYMENTS

Intergovernmental payments generally refer to the actual payment or transfer of money from one governmental level to another.

Federal aid for highways

The Federal-aid highway program is financed from the proceeds of motor-fuel and other highway-related excise taxes that are deposited in the Federal Highway Trust Fund (HTF). The Federal-aid highway program is administered by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) as a grant-in-aid program. Most funds are apportioned to States in accordance with formulas that give weight to population, area, mileage, relative costs (needs), and the percent share of prior (FY 1987 to FY 1991) apportioned funds. Certain programs administered by the FHWA are funded from Federal general funds. Other Federal agencies may transfer funds to the FHWA to administer for highway improvement projects. Details of the Federal funding process can be found in the FHWA publication, Financing Federal-aid Highways.

Annual appropriations of Federal-aid funds for the various programs are apportioned among the States using the formulas shown in table FA-4A. For most programs, these funds are matched by State or local governments on an 80 percent Federal share to a 20 percent State share basis.

State and local governments also receive funds for their highway activities from programs administered by other Federal agencies. Some Federal funds are distributed through State governments to local governments. The different Federal assistance programs for highways are summarized in table F-106 in the FHWA publication Highway Taxes and Fees, How They Are Collected and Distributed.

State aid to local governments

States provide assistance to the highway, road, and street programs of local governments primarily through the transfer or sharing of highway-user revenues. State aid is not limited to highway-user revenues as many States transfer other State revenues, redistribute certain Federal funds, or perform direct work on local roads and streets.

For uniformity in the FHWA's analyses, all State-imposed taxes and fees on highway-users are considered to be collected and distributed by the States. The local governments' shares of State highway-user revenues, if any, are shown as intergovernmental payments from the State. Local governments may collect State motor-vehicle registration fees, transfer only a portion of the collections to the State, and retain their local share. The FHWA analysis attributes the total of the highway-user revenues to the State and shows any amounts retained by local governments as transfers from the State.

In 1992, the statutes of 45 States provided for the sharing of State-collected highway-user tax revenues with local governments for road and street purposes. This assistance is in the form of direct grants-in-aid and shared revenue. The States that did not have such statutes are Alaska, Georgia, New York, Rhode Island, and West Virginia. Several of these States may allocate or appropriate highway-user tax revenues to local governments for road and street purposes during their legislative sessions. Details on the legislative distribution of highway-user revenues to local governments can be found in tables MF-106 and MV-106 in the FHWA publication, Highway Taxes and Fees, How They Are Collected and Distributed.

States also provide aid to local governments from other than highway-user revenues. Other State aid includes general funds, other State imposts, bond proceeds, toll revenues, and miscellaneous State income. Details on the legislative distribution of other State revenues to local governments can be found in table S-106 in the FHWA publication, Highway Taxes and Fees, How They Are Collected and Distributed.

Some transactions that involve a transfer of funds from States to local governments are shown as direct State expenditures by activity, rather than as intergovernmental payments. These transactions include: (1) amounts paid to local governments under contractual agreements for construction or maintenance work on the State highway system for the State highway agency; and (2) payments on local debt obligations assumed by the State as reimbursement for the cost of local roads added to the State highway systems.

Numerous other State transactions or activities benefiting local governments do not involve a transfer of funds. These transactions, which are not treated as intergovernmental payments, include: (1) advisory, consulting, and supervisory services, engineering assistance, and aid-in-kind (e.g., free provision of road materials or loans of equipment); (2) State assumption of the responsibility for construction and maintenance of former county roads or municipal streets; (3) direct State payments for materials or to contractors for the State's share of the cost of joint State-local projects on local road systems; and (4) direct work by the State on locally controlled roads and streets.

Intergovernmental payments of local agencies

In 1991, local governments in 38 States transferred funds to the State. These funds are expended by the State on the State highway system and as direct work on locally controlled roads and streets.

Receipts and disbursements on Federal-aid projects are usually considered transactions of the State. However, local funds may be expended on such projects. When local governments provide the matching share and the State administers the project, these payments to the State are considered intergovernmental transfers.

In some States, a portion of the local share of State tax revenues is not paid directly to local governments. It is retained by the State to match Federal funds for locally controlled road and street projects, or to reimburse the State for work performed at the request of the local government. When the State retains such tax revenue, the transactions do not appear as intergovernmental payments in the State or local finance series of tables.

Payments between similar government units or within the same level of government are eliminated; for example, those among local governments (counties, townships, and municipalities), and between States. But payments made between different levels of government, such as those between the State and local governments, are shown.

Combined finances

Table HF-10 combines, for all levels of government, receipts and disbursements for highways (with local government data and some Federal data estimated) and identifies intergovernmental payments by level of government. Tables HF-1 and HF-2 eliminate intergovernmental payments and summarize, by State, total receipts and disbursements for highways in 1991, the last year for which finance data for all governmental units are available. Table HB-2 summarizes the highway debt status of State and local governments.

Federal financing

The Federal-aid highway program is a federally assisted, State-administered program which distributes Federal funds to the States for the construction and improvement of urban and rural highway systems. On Federal-aid highway projects, a State develops the plans, lets the contracts, and supervises the construction. The roads remain under the administrative control of the State or local government responsible for their operation and maintenance. Federal-aid highway funds have been made available by some States for expenditure by local governments.

Although Federal aid for highways began in the late 1800s, Federal assistance was not provided uniformly to all States with the purpose of developing an integrated network of highways until 1916. In 1921, Federal aid was restricted to a limited connected system of principal roads which became the Federal-aid Primary Highway System. Provision was made in 1944 for the designation of a Federal-aid Secondary System of principal farm-to-market and feeder roads. Also in 1944, for the first time, specific authorization of Federal-aid funds was made for urban extensions of the Primary System, and in 1954, for urban extensions of the Secondary System. In 1973, funding for a separate Urban System program was established. Part of the authorized funding was specifically earmarked for urbanized areas with a population of 200,000 or more.

The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (ISTEA) eliminated the earlier Federal-aid highway systems and created a new National Highway System (NHS). When the new system is completely designated, it will include the existing Interstate routes, a large percentage of urban and rural principal arterials, the defense strategic highway network, and strategic highway connectors. ISTE A also created a new flexible funding program, the Surface Transportation Program (STP), that can be used for roads and streets not functionally classified as local or rural minor collectors, for bridges on any public road, and for transit capital projects.

The National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, a dominant feature of the Federal-aid program, was identified in 1944; however, prior to 1956, only modest funds were provided. The Federal-aid Highway Act of 1956, as subsequently amended, provided funding on a 90 percent Federal, 10 percent State matching basis. The Surface Transportation and Relocation Assistance Act of 1987 (STRAA) provided funding authorizations through FY 1992 (and a limited authorization for FY 1993) for completion of the System. The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (ISTEA) continues the Interstate construction program through FY 1995 and provides the final authorizations for completion of the Interstate System.

In recent years, increased attention has been directed to the preservation and reconstruction of the Nation's highways and bridges. Although regular Federal-aid funds may be used by the States for the rehabilitation and replacement of deficient bridges, a special bridge rehabilitation and replacement program with separate authorizations was begun in 1970. Funding for this program has increased substantially and accounts for over 13 percent of total Federal-aid highway funds apportioned for FY 1992.

Beginning in 1976, a special category of Interstate funds was authorized specifically for resurfacing, restoration, and rehabilitation (3R) work. In 1981, the program was amended to include reconstruction (4R) and funding was substantially increased. Under ISTE, resurfacing, restoration and rehabilitation are funded under the Interstate Maintenance (IM) program. The Federal share of IM projects is 90 percent.

The Federal Highway Trust Fund (HTF) is the funding source for the Federal-aid highway program. The HTF was established by the Highway Revenue Act of 1956. Changes in the Federal excise tax structure have occurred periodically. The Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982, the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, and the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 changed the Federal excise tax structure. The recent passage of the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1993 made further changes to the tax structure and the revenue distribution. Table FE-101 provides a historical summary of Federal excise tax rates, including rates currently in effect. Table FE-21 provides additional detail on the Federal motor-fuel taxes.

Effective April 1983, the Highway Revenue Act of 1982 created the Mass Transit Account within the Highway Trust Fund. The Act provided that the equivalent of one cent per gallon of the motor fuel taxes would be deposited in the Mass Transit Account for transit system capital expenditures. Tables FE-101 and FE-21 trace the history of the taxes dedicated to the Mass Transit Account.

Tables in this publication do not include Federal fuel tax revenues that are not deposited in the Highway Trust Fund. Such taxes include the levy dedicated to the Leaking Underground Storage Tank Trust Fund, which is administered by the Environmental Protection Agency, and the portion of fuel taxes dedicated to the reduction of the national debt. Also excluded are the revenues from fuel consumed in motorboats. Business use of fuel in motorboats is exempt from taxation. The receipts from taxation on personal use are transferred from the Highway Trust Fund to the Aquatic Resources Trust Fund and the Land and Water Conservation Fund, which are administered by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Federal Highway Trust Fund revenues are derived from various Federal excise taxes on highway users. The attribution of these revenues to highway users in each State is shown in table FE-9. Since these revenues cannot be directly related to payments by highway users in each State, the receipts attributable to highway users in each State are estimated by the FHWA based on highway fuel consumption.

Table FE-221 shows a comparison, by State, of HTF Highway Account receipts attributable to highway users and apportionments from the Fund. This table reflects a concerted effort to include all funds apportioned or allocated to the States from the Highway Account in the HTF. Table MF-27 shows the 1991 highway motor fuel gallonage used to attribute the 1992 HTF receipts to the States on table FE-221.

Amounts apportioned to the States pursuant to authorizations by Congress for a fiscal year are not to be confused with payments to the States for work completed. Although Federal-aid funds are apportioned by year, a grace period in expending the funds is permitted to allow the States time for orderly planning, budgeting, and execution of their highway programs.

Payments to contractors for work on Federal-aid projects are initially made from State or local funds. The Federal share is paid as a reimbursement to the States as work progresses. The final reimbursement payment is made after completion of the project.

Most payments are made as reimbursements to the States. Some funds are expended directly by FHWA on Federal projects or for FHWA's administrative costs. Tables FA-3, FA-4, and FA-5 provide information on the apportionment, expenditure, and obligation of Federal funds. Tables FA-10 and FA-11 provide information on Federal-aid highway program accomplishments for Federal-aid projects initiated in fiscal year 1992.

STP obligations for projects off the NHS are included in two new summary tables, STP-1 and STP-1A. These tables are intended to show expected products or accomplishments to be achieved with this category of Federal-aid highway funds.

State financing

The highway finance activities and debt status of State highway agencies are given in the SF and SB table series. Table SF-21 consolidates and summarizes all highway receipts and disbursements of the States. The remaining tables in the SF series provide further details and breakdowns of all highway receipts and disbursements of the States, including data on State toll facilities. The SB table series provides details of the highway debt transactions of the States. Table SF-12 shows State highway capital outlay and maintenance expenditures by functional system and area. Table SF-12A provides a distribution of capital outlay by improvement type. Table SF-12B shows State highway capital outlay and maintenance expenditures by the new Federal-aid system.

Table SMT shows State receipts and disbursements for mass transportation activities. Two new tables are included in Highway Statistics to show Federal Transit Administration (FTA) information on mass transit operators. Table MT-2A presents information on the funding of capital outlay, and table MT-2B presents information on the funding of operational expenditures of mass transit operators with a differentiation among maintenance, operations, and administration.

Local financing

The highway finance activities of local governments are shown in the LGF table series. This series replaces the separate reporting of highway finance information for county, township, and municipal governments as shown in last year's LF and UF table series. Debt status for local governments is given in table LGB-2, which replaces last year's tables LB-2 and UB-2. Table LGF-21 consolidates and summarizes all highway receipts and disbursements of local governments. Table LDF replaces table LGF-22 and summarizes State highway-user revenue transferred to local governments and local highway-user revenue, including toll revenue, used for local highway and nonhighway purposes. The local finance data are for various fiscal years ending in 1991. Some States use sampling to develop highway finance data for local governments.

CLASSIFICATION OF HIGHWAY RECEIPTS

Highway receipts include highway-user revenues and all other receipts that are expended for highway purposes, regardless of source. The highway finance tables generally include only the revenues which were expended for highway purposes. Tables DF, MF-3, MV-3, and LDF show the total of highway-user revenues from motor-fuel and motor-vehicle taxation regardless of their use for highway or nonhighway purposes. Tables SMT, MT-1, and MT-2 show the State revenues including highway-user and other revenues which are expended for mass transportation purposes. The State and local toll tables may include highway-user or toll revenues subsequently transferred to mass transportation and nonhighway purposes.

Funds attributable to highway users

By definition, highway-user imposts are taxes and fees that are levied on the owners and operators of motor vehicles because of or for their use of the public highways. These imposts include: motor-fuel taxes, registration fees, driver license fees, weight-distance taxes, titling taxes, other fees that are closely related to owning and operating motor vehicles, and tolls. Fines and penalties for registration violations and vehicle size and weight violations are also included as highway-user imposts.

Until recently, the States and the Federal Government preempted this field of taxation as their principal source of funds for highways. Receipts from highway-user taxes are now reported by local governments as States permit or provide the option for local highway-user taxation. Regional gasoline taxes are considered local highway-user tax until levied uniformly throughout the State. Motor-vehicle fees are also levied in many local communities.

In general, the revenue from highway-user taxes is derived from taxes imposed for the use of the highways, but small amounts are actually derived from off-highway use. Although tax refunds are usually granted for off-highway use of motor fuel, not all refunds are claimed or granted. Some States exempt or refund the tax for Federal and other public use, for transit bus operations, and, in at least one State, for fuel consumed on toll roads.

The allocation of the revenues from State motor-fuel taxes and motor-vehicle fees is shown in tables MF-3 and MV-3, respectively. These tables and the summary table DF follow the flow of the highway-user imposts from their collection to their eventual allocation for specific purposes. These allocations differ from those shown in the State finance (SF) tables since these tables include funds allocated for collection expenses, nonhighway purposes, and mass transportation programs.

Most States have legislatively provided for the allocation of highway-user revenues to highway purposes. The form and amount of the allocation or dedication of highway-user revenues vary from State to State. When revenues are not dedicated to specific purposes and are mixed with other revenues, it is impossible to precisely identify how revenues from particular sources are used. For those States, the revenues for highway appropriations and expenditures are proportionally assigned from motor-fuel and motor-vehicle highway-user revenues.

Some States allocate highway-user revenues to the State general fund or for nonhighway purposes, and appropriate general funds to highway purposes. Since revenues deposited into general funds lose their identity, highway-user revenues are considered appropriated and expended for highway purposes before unspecified general funds are appropriated and expended for highway activities. In the FHWA analyses, general fund appropriations have been offset, to the extent possible, against the allocations of highway-user revenues for nonhighway funds or purposes. Since collection expenses are considered a cost to produce highway-user revenues, highway-user revenues are substituted for general funds that were appropriated for collection expenses.

Table MF-106 provides the legislative or administrative provisions for allocating State motor-fuel taxes. Table MV-106 provides similar information for State motor-vehicle registration fees, driver-license fees, and motor-carrier taxes. These tables are published in the FHWA publication, Highway Taxes and Fees, How They Are Collected and Distributed.

Other taxes and fees

Not all taxes paid by highway users are classified as highway-user imposts. Sales and use taxes, gross receipts taxes, and ad valorem property taxes are not considered highway-user imposts when such taxes are a part of general tax structures and are applied to a variety of commodities, operations, and commercial activities that are not related to highways. Although parking revenues are closely related to tolls, they are not considered highway-user imposts.

Special assessments and property taxes are used by local governments to finance local road and street programs. Special assessments and property taxes are usually commingled with other local revenues in a general fund from which appropriations are made for highways and for other purposes. All, or portions, of the proceeds of many other State and local taxes, such as oil royalties, severance taxes on natural resources, and sales and use taxes, are allocated or drawn on for highways. Miscellaneous State taxes, fees, and appropriations that are specifically allocated for highways are shown in table S-106 of the FHWA publication, Highway Taxes and Fees, How They Are Collected and Distributed.

Investment income and miscellaneous receipts

By investing surplus or unused highway funds, many highway agencies are able to realize interest income or profit on the purchase and sale of securities. Other miscellaneous income includes: rentals, private donations (including cash contributions, transfers of real property, and services) insurance recoveries, and a variety of permit fees.

Income from sale of bonds and notes

Special tables that give details of State obligations (SB table series) and local obligations (table LGB-2) have been included. State bond issues for highways usually can be identified. Bond issues occasionally combine borrowing for more than one purpose, and the road and street shares of such general improvement loans in the tables are estimates.

Short-term note issues (a maturity of 2 years or less) have been omitted from most tables. Among local governments, short-term note financing is often used in anticipation of other revenues. Short-term note issues and redemptions are included only in table LGB-2 and are omitted from all other tables. Note interest payments are included in the various highway finance summary tables.

CLASSIFICATION OF HIGHWAY EXPENDITURES

Expenditures for highways have been grouped into the following major classes: capital outlay, maintenance, administration, highway law enforcement and safety, interest on debt, debt retirement, and intergovernmental payments.

Capital outlays are those costs associated with highway improvements, including: land acquisition and other right-of-way costs; preliminary and construction engineering; construction and reconstruction; resurfacing, rehabilitation, and restoration costs of roadway and structure; and installation of traffic service facilities such as guard rails, fencing, signs, and signals.

Two types of costs are classified as maintenance: (1) those required to preserve highways, roads, and streets in usable condition, such as routine patching repairs, bridge painting, and other maintenance of condition costs; and (2) traffic service costs, such as snow and ice removal, pavement markings, signs, signals, litter cleaning, and toll collection expenses.

Administration costs are the general expenses of administering a State or local highway program, including general overhead, engineering, and research costs that are not assignable to specific road projects. They also include:

expenses associated with highway planning and research, highway litigation, and highway publications.

Highway law enforcement and safety expenditures are categorized as traffic supervision activities of State highway patrols, programs for highway safety education and promotion, driver education and training programs, enforcement of vehicle size and weight limitations, and vehicle inspection programs, including emission testing. Federal funds support many highway law enforcement and safety activities. Highway patrol and general police expenses associated with drug interdiction, criminal investigation, and security activities are excluded from the tables.

1/ This table shows the fuel tax rates, along with the allocation of the revenues derived from the tax, in effect during 1992 and subsequent changes as provided by the Energy Policy Act of 1992 and the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993.

2/ Section 1920 of the Energy Policy Act of 1992 expanded the definition of gasohol effective January 1, 1993. Prior to the Act, gasohol was defined as a blend of gasoline and at least 10 percent, by volume, fuel alcohol and blends containing less than 10 percent alcohol were taxed as gasoline. Under the Act, the product now called 10 percent gasohol corresponds to the old definition. Two additional types of gasohol are also defined. The term 7.7 percent gasohol includes gasoline-alcohol blends where the alcohol content is at least 7.7 percent but less than 10 percent. The term 5.7 percent gasohol includes gasoline-alcohol blends where the alcohol content is at least 5.7 percent but less than 7.7 percent.

3) Remaining category includes Federally funded programs not otherwise included in the remaining improvement types, such as bridge program, special action, highway planning and research, and metropolitan planning.

4) Other category includes Federally funded funds not otherwise included in the remaining fund types, such as intercity highway substitution, intercity highway elimination, demonstration projects, and planning and research funds. "Other" funds obligated do not include metropolitan area funding.

5) No mileage or bridge count are reported for highway engineering or light-of-way projects. Project funding, however, is included in the appropriate fund type. This can result in dollar entries in lines for which there are no miles or bridges reported.

1) This table contains Federal-aid funds obligated and highway improvement projects initially authorized in fiscal year 1992 by type of improvement and fund source. Additional funds authorized for projects still not obligated are not included. Therefore, obligations in this table will be less than those shown in Table FA-4B. Totals may not add due to rounding.

2) No mileage or bridge count are reported for highway engineering or light-of-way projects. Project funding, however, is included in the appropriate fund type. This can result in dollar entries in lines for which there are no miles or bridges reported.

1/ Most highway projects are multi-year. Obligation of funds may occur throughout the life of the project. In this table, obligations of funds are reported for the year in which they occur. The project accomplishments, such as lane miles added, or improved and the number of bridges improved are reported only once.

2/ Includes only projects funded with monies set aside for rail-highway crossings and the hazard elimination programs under Sections 130 and 152 of Title 23 U.S. Code. Safety improvements made with other funds are included in the roadway and bridge categories.

3/ This category includes projects such as bicycle or pedestrian facilities, beautification programs, historic preservation, and mitigation of pollution from highway run off.

4/ Includes engineering, right-of-way, planning and other similar obligations.

5/ Differences in national totals between tables STP-1 and STP-1A are due to rounding.

DISTRIBUTION OF COSTS ON FEDERAL AID HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTS OVER $1,000,000 EXCLUDING ALL SECONDARY PROJECTS REPORTED DURING CALENDAR YEAR 1992 AS COMPLETED

- 1) Gross earnings of contractors' employees in the following classifications:
Administrative and Supervisory, Skilled, Intermediate, and Unskilled labor.
- 2) Aggregates consist of sand, gravel, slag, crushed stone, etc., for use in bases, portland cement concrete and bituminous surfaces, and portland cement concrete structures.
- 3) For both roadway and structures.
- 4) For various types of bituminous surfaces and bases.
- 5) Includes structural, reinforcing, culvert and miscellaneous steel.
- 6) Equipment includes fuel and lubricants 2.4%, but excludes operators' and mechanics' wages. Overhead includes contractors' on-site expenses such as mobilization, office rental, taxes, licenses, insurances, etc.

2/ The year shown is the year FHWA received the report of the completed project.

3/ Labor hours shown are for "on-site" work only, and do not include off-site work at materials plants, suppliers, office staff, management, etc.

4/ Number of jobs equals total hours divided by 1600.

Impacts on motor carrier.

2/ Includes expenditures for county roads under State control. All county roads are under State control in Alabama, Virginia and Maryland.

3/ Includes direct expenditures by State on local roads and streets and grants-in-aid.

4/ Allocations for local general purposes may have been used in part for highways, but such amounts are not known.

5/ Gross allocations of highway user revenues to State General Fund were offset, in the amounts shown, against appropriations for highways from State General Fund. The amounts offset are included with allocations for State Highway purposes.

6/ In three States, most highway user revenues are placed in the State General Fund. For discussion of general fund States' financing, see "Highway Financials" text under "Funds Attributable to Highway User."

7/ Includes direct expenditures by State on local roads and streets and grants-in-aid.

1/ This table includes the revenues from State taxes on all motor-vehicle fuels and related receipts in connection with motor-fuel taxation and administration. In many States, however, the tax on special fuels (fuels other than oil fuel sold) is applicable only to the gasoline used on the highways. For the States that apply the tax to all fuel sold, the revenue and refunds covering the nonhighway portion of these special fuels have been excluded. All data are subject to further review and revision.

2/ Includes in some States, receipts in the form of tax credits for refund claims accepted by distributors acting as agents of the State and refund credits to users who are licensed as distributors.

3/ For tax rates as of January 1, 1992 and rate changes during the year, see table MF-121. States with variable rates are also identified in table MF-121.

4/ These are proceeds from taxes on nonhighway uses of gasoline dedicated to the improvement of facilities other than highways. They are generally revenues from taxes on gasoline for aviation and maritime use, but in some States, include taxes on gasoline used in off-highway recreational vehicles and snowmobiles. In California, revenues from the tax on gasoline used for agricultural purposes are included.

5/ These are fees for inspection of motor-vehicle fuel. Insofar as possible, fees for inspection of fuels not used on highways have been eliminated.

^{1/} See Table MF-1 for details of receipts. Amounts in this column are comparable with adjusted net gasoline receipts on Table MF-1, column (8). Amounts exclude adjustments for unidentified balances in trust funds, etc.^{2/} Estimates were made for States which did not report data on the costs of administering motor-fuel tax laws. Although the table lists all collection costs as paid from motor-fuel receipts, several States pay these costs from general funds.^{3/} The distributions shown include both specific dedications and the portion of motor-fuel tax portion of distributions from common funds with multiple revenue sources. All county/roads are under State control in Delaware, North Carolina and West Virginia. Some county roads are under State control in^{4/} Includes expenditures for county roads and streets and grants-in-aid.^{5/} Includes direct expenditures by State on local roads and streets and grants-in-aid.^{6/} Allocations for local general purposes may have been used in part for highways, but such amounts are not included.^{7/} Gross allocations of highway-user revenues to State general funds were offset in the amounts shown, against appropriations for highways from State general funds. The amounts offset are indicated with allocations for State highway purposes.^{8/} In these States, most highway-user revenues are placed in the State General Fund. 3/ The distributions shown include both specific dedications and the prorated share of motor-vehicle revenue from common funds with multiple revenue sources.

4/ Includes expenditures for county roads under State control. All county roads are under State control in Delaware, North Carolina and West Virginia. Some county roads are under State control in Alabama, Virginia and Maryland.

5/ Includes direct expenditures by State on local roads and streets and grants-in-aid.

6/ Allocations for local general purposes may have been used in part for highways, but such amounts are not known.

7/ Gross allocations of highway-user revenues to State general funds. The amounts shown, against highway purposes, are placed in the State general fund. For discussion of general fund State financing, see "Highway Finance" text under "Funds Attributable to Highway Users."

8/ In three States, most highway-user revenues are placed in the State general fund. For discussion of fund State financing, see "Highway Finance" text under "Funds Attributable to Highway Users." 1/ Tables SF-1 and SF-2 summarize the receipts and disbursements of (1) State highway-user revenue allocated for highway purposes and (2) all other net receipts and disbursements by the State for highways. See Table SF-21 for general notes on SF series.

2/ Any differences between beginning balances and previous year's closing balances are the result of accounting adjustments. Incurrence of funds not previously reported, etc.

3/ The amounts in these columns are identical with the combined receipts allocated for State-administered highways and for local roads and streets shown on Tables MF-3, MF-4, and MF-5.

4/ Toll receipts used for non-highway purposes have been omitted from Tables SF-1 and SF-2. For additional detail, see Tables SF-38 and SF-46.

5/ Gross nonhighway allocations of highway-user revenues that were offset against appropriations for highways from State general fund appear in Table DF.

In addition to the receipts and disbursements of the State highway department for primary and secondary State highways and local roads under State control, these tables also include State highway debt service transactions and the receipts and disbursements for roads and bridges of other State agencies, such as State park boards and special State and quasi-State toll authorities. See Table SF-1 for general notes on SF tables.

2/ Any differences between beginning and ending balances are the result of changes in the cash balance of the State-administered roads and bridges.

3/ The entities in these columns are identical with the totals for State highway purposes on Tables MF-3, MV-3, and DF, respectively.

4/ Gross nonhighway allocations of highway-user revenues that were offset against appropriations from the State General funds appear in Table DF.

5/ Includes sales and use taxes, severance taxes, and other State taxes.

1/ This table is one of a series giving available information concerning State and quasi-State obligations incurred for highway purposes. The other tables are Table SB-2, Change in Indebtedness During Year, Table SB-21, Change in Indebtedness During Year for Toll Facilities, and Table SB-3, Receipts and Disbursements for Debt. When bonds were issued parity for highway and parity for other purposes, such issues have been charged to State highways, to county or other local roads and streets and to nonhighway purposes, respectively, in proportion to the amounts of the original issues for these purposes, with the nonhighway portion being omitted from these tables. Also omitted are obligations with terms of less than 2 years; however, interest payments for short-term obligations are included in Table SB-3.

2/ All bonds are considered to be for construction of highways unless identified as refunding.

3/ Payment by bond purchaser for interest accrued from date of issue to date of sale.

4/ "Peculiar rate" is declared rate printed on bonds.

5/ When an asterisk appears in this column, the bonds are understood to be secured by toll traffic, and credit of the State, in addition to the specific revenues dedicated by law to debt service.

6/ The 1991 Table SB-1 showed a par and net value of $22,000 for this issue. The table should have shown a par value of $124,478,000, a discount of $124,476,000 and net value of $2,000. The difference is shown here. This large discount occurred because the full discount of a multi-agency bond issue was assigned to the Highway Fund.

7/ The State did not report this issue last year. The proceeds have been treated as 1992 income.

8/ The 1989 Table SB-1 showed a par value of $135,780,000 and a discount of $5,517,000. The table should have shown a par value of $160,320,000 and a discount of $29,697,000. The difference is shown here.

9/ The State did not report this issue until 1992. The par value shown represent the current outstanding balance. The discount shown is not the original discount; it represents only that these proceeds have not been treated as 1992 income.

10/ In 1992, the Highway Fund assumed the outstanding debt of the Department of Safety.

11/ $1,094,629 used for refunding.

12/ $4,772,000 used for refunding.

13/ Data not reported.

1/ This table summarizes local government receipts from motor-fuel taxes, motor-vehicle fees, and special imposts on motor carriers, and tolls. This table includes receipts from State imposts that are transferred to local governments for distribution. Data for some States have been estimated by FHWA. See Table LGF-1 for details.

2/ Differences between amounts shown here and in last year's Highway Statistics Tables DF and SF-5A are caused by State actions in transferring revenues dedicated to local governments, and by local governments' rededications of State funds.

2/ The amounts shown are identical with the receipts allocated for highways shown on Table LGF-1.

See Table LGF-1 for allocations for mass transportation, and nonhighway purposes.

3/ Bonds issued for and retired by refunding are excluded. See Table LGF-2 for further information on the status of local highway debt.
